I understand that Colorado state law requires the owners of certain buildings to provide certain information regarding energy use of their buildings to the Colorado Energy Office. I understand that in order to comply with the statute, building owners need to obtain the information from utility companies like CORE Electric Cooperative (“CORE”). I understand that, in accordance with state law, the information provided by CORE for multi-customer buildings is aggregated for the entire building and therefore does not disclose the energy data for individual utility customers.

I understand that because my building has fewer than four utility members, CORE requires the owner of my building to obtain my consent prior to CORE releasing my information to the building owner. The information that CORE may release to the building owner may include, but is not limited to the building’s: (i) monthly energy use (ii) annual maximum electricity demand; and (iii) monthly peak electricity demand, as measured by CORE’s electric meter(s).

By signing this authorization, I hereby consent to CORE sharing the above energy use data with the owner of my building.
